Rescue attempt

Man drowns

Heavy 27, of New Orleans, was seen shortly before 10 p.m. Wednesday by a boatman, Bill Sumrall, and Mrs. Glen Sumrall, of Bay St. Louis, who were fishing in the water near the Municipal Pier.

Mrs. Sumrall, of 540 St. John St., who with her mother, Mrs. Ruth Sanders of Jackson, was fishing off the end of the pier, warned the Sumrall boys, and another child, playing near a pier ladder, about the depth of the water. When she next noticed the boy he was bobbing up and down in the sea at what appeared to be a short distance from the pier. She immediately jumped in and attempted to rescue the boy despite Mrs. Sanders' pleas to wait for assistance. Realizing she could not swim back to shore with the panic-stricken boy, she called for help.

Sumrall, son of Mr. and Mrs. T.H. Sumrall of 201 Carroll Ave., later said he climbed down the ladder to watch the woman fish and was pulled off by the force of the tide. He said he thought he could swim back but was instead forced towards the highway bridge by the same tide.

Songy, who bystanders reported said he could not swim, promptly went into the water clutching a small rubber raft.

Meanwhile the plight of the three was noted by Robert Richard of Metairie, and Mrs. Robert L. Williams, Jr., vacationing on Blue Meadow Road. Roberts ran from the beach, Mrs. Williams from the center of the pier, grabbing inner tubes before plunging into the water.

Richard handed the tube to Mrs. Walters and she told them to go in aid of Songy as the boy.

When they reached the victim, he was floating face down. They held the boy afloat until Gene Junginger and Johnny Benigno, Jr., fishing nearby took them in to shore.

Police Chief Lathan Garriaga and Eric Neale summoned two Riemann-Fahy Whitfield ambulances. Mrs. Walters, who had lost consciousness after reaching the pier was taken to Hancock General Hospital for emergency treatment for shock.

The coroner's jury empaneled by Emilio Piazza with Garriaga as bailiff and jurors Sheriff Sylvan J. Lathan, Jr., Harold Ryals, Alvin Paves, Gene Junginger, W. J. Lafontaine and Evert Emling, ruled death due to accidental drowning.

The body was taken to Lamana-Panno-Fa's Funeral Home in New Orleans. Final arrangements are incomplete. Mrs. Songy is the only survivor's name available at press time.

Electrical

storm hits

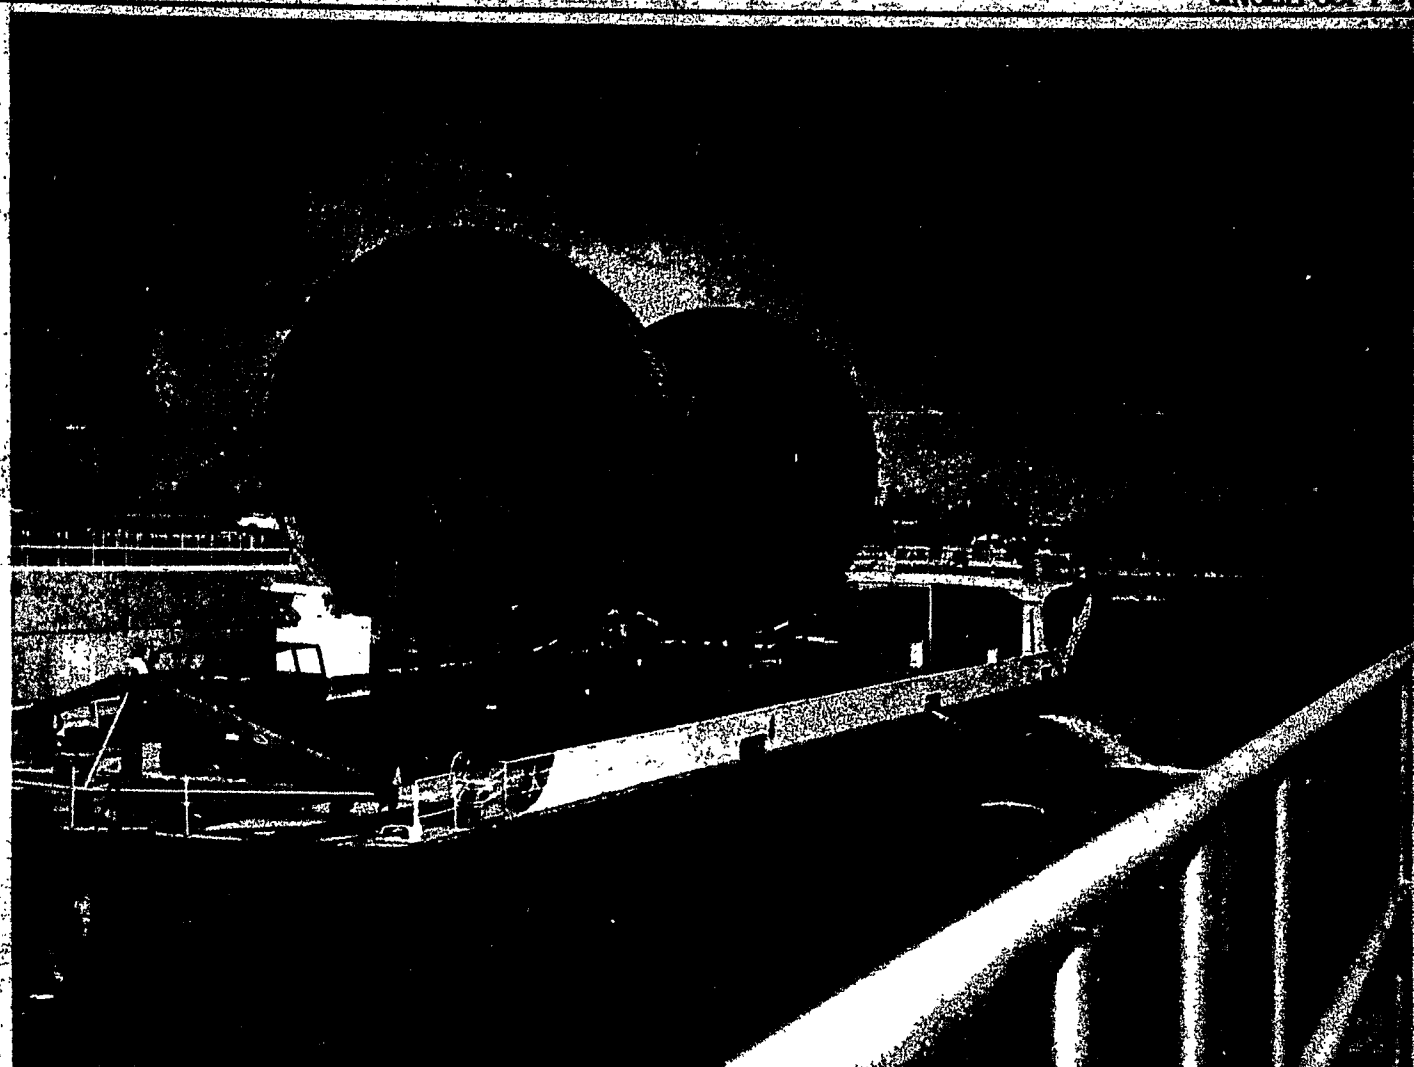

early Sunday

A severe electrical storm damaged homes, telephones and power lines early Sunday morning. In the process it also dumped 2.55 inches of rain on the city, according to Brother Joel at St. Stanislaus College.

Damage to a new $25,000 volt line from Bayou LaCrosse sub-station, serving Bay St. Louis Central sub-station, disrupted service as did large oak limbs falling across wires near Uman Ave.

Southern Bell Telephone Co. reported some lines in the area were still out of service and crews are still repairing damage.

Mrs. Frank Corso of 1514 N. Beach reported fire damage to her television set when lightning caused wires to burn, and the residence of Mrs. Royce Williams of Arnold Road experienced family room damage when television, air conditioning and general wiring were hit from a lightning bolt.

THREE FIRSTS AT MTF - First rocket dummy arrives at Mississippi Test Facility Monday, using converted barge Pearl River and 670-foot lock for first time. Here it awaits change in water level to continue journey into canal system at test site.

MTF advances on first test blast

The first "Space Age" hardware arrived Monday at Mississippi Test Facility as the NASA installation pushed efforts to become operational next winter.

The rocket stage, called a simulator, has the same dimensions and weight as the S-II second stage of the Saturn V moon rocket which is slated to arrive in October in preparation for actual firing next January.

At least two other firsts were marked with the trip. It was the initial use of the recently completed navigation lock at the site and of the barge, Pearl River, which will be the workhorse of NASA's fleet in hauling rocket stages here for static firing.

The S-II simulator—which doesn't have engines but does have all the dimensions, 33 by 81 feet, and weight of the real thing—will be used to check out test stands and other facilities. Built by North American Aviation, Inc., at Seal Beach, Calif., it left there by barge June 13 and arrived Saturday at Michoud where it was moved onto the Pearl River.

With the tug, Stella G. of New Orleans, and the Scepter of Wilmington, Del., astern, the stage left Michoud at 6:10 a.m. Monday and rounded the bend of the channel into MTF shortly after 12:30 p.m., its brilliant yellow frame towering above the trees on the horizon. The Stella G. captain indicated the 45-mile voyage was slightly delayed because a buoy marking the channel just north of Little Lake had moved.

Capt. Herb Evans, waterways director at MTF and member of the technical staff of the test laboratory at Marshall Space Flight Center, was on hand to supervise and check out the lock operation. The Pearl River, after its initial voyage up the historic East Pearl River, and its simular cargo, was lifted some 15 feet in the navigation lock. The lock is 112 feet wide and 670 feet long.

Once through the lock, the simulator was taken by water through the bascule bridge on Rt. 43 and around the bend of the canal to the booster storage building, arriving there about 2 p.m. There North American Aviation crews in white coveralls took over the off-loading, which consumed most of the afternoon.

Meanwhile the MTF work force hit another all-time high this week with 4,831 personnel reported on hand Monday. That's slightly over 1,000 more than April 30 when the ship-up as a sign of the test site was announced. The count was then 3,740.

Current breakdown shows 53 per cent NASA, 25 per cent the force here on temporary duty, 1,183 with General Electric, 319 with GE Sub-Contractors, 172 with the Corps of Engineers at the site and 7 at the real estate office, 2,581 construction and installation workers, eight at the weather bureau, 39 with Boeing and 366 with North American.

North American opens a personnel office next Tuesday on the fifth floor of Slidell Towers in Slidell and will hold interviews from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Mondays through Saturdays. Since the company is presently negotiating a new contract with NASA no estimate could be obtained as to the

Let job to 4-lane 43 south from test site

Another step toward a four-lane highway from Bay-Waveland and the Gulf Coast to Mississippi Test Facility came last week with the award of a half-million contract for work on old state Rt. 43.

The State Highway Department accepted the low bid from Yates and Patterson, Inc., of Jackson for construction of a 3,940 mile strip between I-cars state Routes 10 and 59. The $552,142.71 job, which will be done entirely with federal funds, calls for grading, drainage, culverts, base, double bituminous surfacing and asphalt paving.

Start of the work awaits signature of the contract by the Corps of Engineers which already has given its informal concurrence to the state action.

Capt. Charles B. Eastburn,

number of personnel to be hired.

Harry C. Cox, NAA's manager at the test site, has been appointed director of its space and information division there.

General Electric, which has the housekeeping contract, is moving several administrative and support sections to a former garment manufacturing plant in Picayune. It opened its recruiting center at 159 Main St., Bay St. Louis, several weeks ago for the convenience of applicants. Almost 5,000 prospective employees have been processed there so far.

Negotiations for additional right of way for the four-lane highway is being conducted with property owners by O.B. Moore, chief of the Corps' real estate acquisition office at Bay St. Louis. The government "easement" law has been virtually all property in the buffer zone.

Meanwhile, C.D. Cameron, the highway department engineer in Bay St. Louis, said that traffic surveys on U.S. 90 between the intersection with Rt. 43 and Pearl River are under way. The surveys are expected to be completed by the end of the month.

Cox said that the Corps is planning to build a new access road to the test site. The road will be 10 feet wide and 10 feet high. It will be built on the site of the old access road.

The Corps is also planning to build a new access road to the test site. The road will be 10 feet wide and 10 feet high. It will be built on the site of the old access road.

30 injured on highway

A rash of highway accidents starting at 11:10 p.m. Friday through Sunday evening injured at least 30 persons and hospitalized 11 of them. Twenty others got emergency treatment at Hancock General Hospital and were released.

A five-car pile-up on U.S. 90 west of the scales sent Dr. and Mrs. Julius Bosch, infant daughter, Robin, and Al Bosch, all of New Orleans to the hospital along with Mrs. Oscar Lucas and three children from Glen Ellen, Ill. This was late Friday night when William Isbell of Long Beach, going west, slowed down. James Ryan of New Orleans collided with the rear of Isbell's car.

Equal job rights

Marion Kent, liaison man from NASA's Marshall Space Flight Center, discussed equal job opportunities with the Bay St. Louis Human Relations Council.

He displayed slides showing construction of the installation and commended the council for its activities toward harmonious community relations here.

Warren Carver, president of the council, said the construction was adopted during the meeting at Our Lady of the Gulf Parish Hall. He reported good attendance and announced the next session is to be at 8 p.m. July 13 at St. Rose School cafeteria.

Wilson Webb, secretary of the board of directors of the Hancock County Civic Action Assn., explained its aims and purposes of that group, stressing that it is not competitive with the human relations council but is to administer the President's anti-poverty program here.

KK dumped by SR

Knock-Knockers W.J. Carron titled a home run shot in deep center with two base runners scored as SR's Southern Realty took a 3-0 home-run lead in the first game of the day Monday.

A summary by Innings saw the Knock-Knockers go down one, two, three in the first. Southern Realty led off with base runner as Bill Hanks singled. J.V. Luther popped out to right field. Larry Mathis singled down rightfield line and Donald Strong reached rightfield again for his first double play as Trapp's first baseman Bobby Bonin tagged the runner going to second and then stepped on the bag to retire the side.

In the second inning, Trapp's opened the scoring when Gene Tarzetti charged home after Henry Monti sacrificed to center. In the same inning SR's James Glin lined out. Larry Luke and Claude Varborough singled, and Wilmer Seymour rapped to short hitting into another double play that killed Realty's rally. Trapp's went three up and three down in the third and fourth innings while Southern Realty went ahead as they scored two runs on hits by Larry Luke and Glin.

The Knock-Knockers came back in the fifth to add one tally and tie the game, when Jerry Seuzeneau singled, Henry Monti singled and Ray Chinche sacrificed to bring in Seuzeneau. Monti raced home but was called out at the plate.

In the sixth both squads got two hits but were unable to score then. In the seventh, Trapp's Tarzetti led off with a double. Dusty Rhodes walked, Seuzeneau and Monti lined out and Chinche brought the men in green alive again as he singled to advance Tarzetti for a 3-2 advantage. SR bounced back when Seymour and Varborough singled, and Cameon, with a 2-2 count blasted his four seaker.

Strong and Varborough connected with 2-3 trips up to qualify for top SR sticks while Trapp's Tarzetti, with a single and a double, and Seuzeneau with two singles were high for the losers.

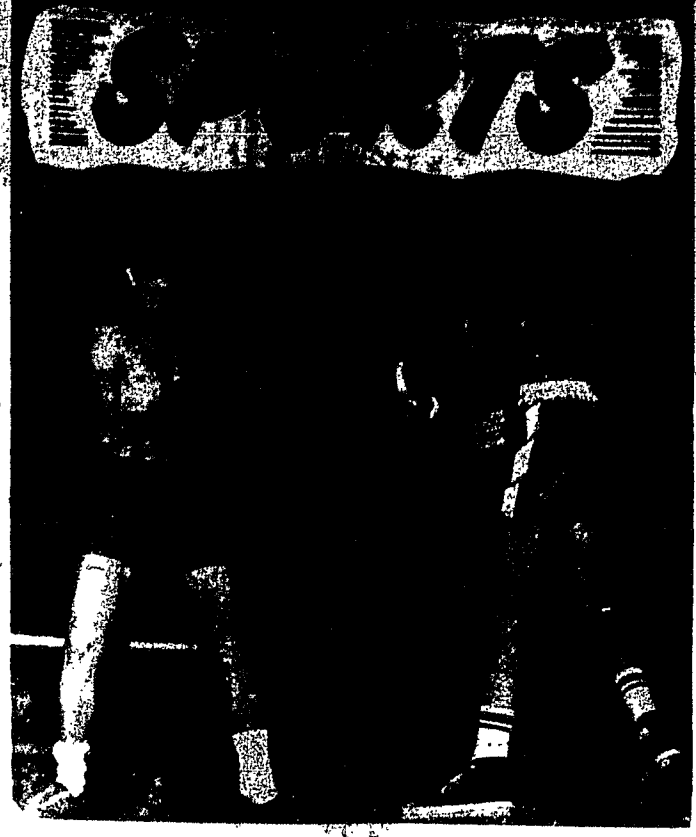

Varborough (5-2) captured hill honors while Gus Alme (6-1) suffered the defeat.

In the first game of the twin-bill, Travis' Lounge scored a 16-7 victory against Pearlington Barber Shop.

Thirteen Travis' men batted around in the first frame collecting nine runs on nine hits and again in the third for four more. Chuck Wagner and Gabe Favre lined homers and one run was scored in the last frame to round out the Travis' attack.

Pearlington collected two runs in the first, three in the second and two in the seventh.

Tom Mayfield lined 3-3 for Travis' top stick honors while J.E. Givens had 3-4 for PBS. Favre was winning hurler and John Fury the loser.

HAD ENOUGH - St. Mary's Lucky Sterling waits for Jay Warner of Bay Boxing Center to come back for more after he landed a hard left to "stun" Warner in sixth match on Saturday's card. Buck Price called fight minutes later with Sterling winning a TKO referee decision.

Bay team takes first fight card

Larry Bilbo, 150-pound boxing star, won a unanimous decision over O.H. Alpha of St. Mary's CYO to clinch the team victory for Bay Boxing Center at Saturday's 10-bout card held in St. Stanislaus Gymnasium.

Watched by more than 400 people, and sponsored by Bay St. Louis Jaycees, the card was the first of a series scheduled for this year.

David Mobly and Steve Astinoff, both of St. Mary's, opened the event with an exhibition bout when Bay Boxing Center was unable to place pairings in the 110 lb. weight division. Mobly won by a split decision.

Two BBC 60-pounders, Donnie Bourgeois and Chuckie Carver were awarded 2-1 decisions over boxers from St. Mary's. In the first competing bout, Bourgeois bested Louis Welter and Carver beat David Clements.

In the fourth bout, BBC's Lester Dougherty scored a clear victory over Steve Kenny in the 90 lb. class.

Emile Bourgeois, BBC's golden glove champ, roared to victory as he posted a first round TKO over Jose Major and in the final event of the evening Harvey Mitchell (40-45 fights), lost by a split decision by Frank Misenfelter.

On tap to referee the fights was Ralph Dupas, former junior-middle-weight champion of the world and Buster Malina, an old-time boxing great from Pass Christian. Charles Breath handled the time-keeper's chores, while Jake and J.V. Morreale and Dick Thames were score keepers. Mike Haas was ring announcer.

More than 30 young people, children of members, have been attending the sessions so far. Cal Smith, professional, is teaching.

In the nine blind hole tournament conducted for members during June, low gross winners were Ed Fitzmaurice, Don Hertel and Mrs. Al Fletcher. Low net winners were Glenn Young and Mrs. E.J. Willis. Roy Saux posted a net 61 and Mrs. Fletcher a net 69 to win the D.O. Hickey Memorial tournament.

A flag tournament is planned this Saturday for the Fourth. The monthly weak supper will be July 10.

CYO gets short circuit 21-3 as Luke's connect

Like a ball game in July, a shower of lightning came down on the CYO game Thursday night as Luke Electric's unmerciful 21-3 charge saw 49 electricians make connections at the place.

Lead-off Man Pat Pascianni was the brightest star for the Luke squad hitting 3-3 and walking twice. Melva Luke and Joanne Colson started into second spot with two for five trips. CYO's young ballplayers committed 11 errors, walked eight and allowed 13 to hit safely. Short circuiting the electrician's game were Marsha Comprezza, Sharon Mont, Sheila Favre, Mimi Mont and B. Perniciaro all managing solid hits for CYO.

Vivian Schaffer (3-3) claimed hill honors and Debbie Weidmann (1-5) the loss.

In the second of Thursday's twin-bill, league leading Beach Drug came up with two big runs in the final frame to edge Moran's Amusement 7-6.

A summary by innings saw Beach Drug strike early with three runs in the first and one in the second while Moran's went scoreless the first frame but rebounded in the second and third for a 6-4 advantage. Beach came back with one tally in the fifth and struck again with two runs to win in the final frame. Eva Beaugez reached first on an error, Marie Pierce singled, Millie Usher sacrificed scoring Beaugez, Beverly Shiyou reached first on an overthrow, scoring Pierce, but was called out trying.

Little League lead unchanged

Darrell Carlot, Little League ace right-hander for Riemann's, hurled a no hitter against Coast Electric but lost 1-0 when CE's Ralph Flemming scored after Truman Schultz and Terry Stephens walked.

Coast Electric's win moved them within one game of league leading Merchants Bank and Riemann's fell three games behind. Schultz was credited for the win with only Al Lafontaine, Gary Blatz and Darrell Carlot of Riemann's hitting for singles.

In the second game Monday, Industrial Enameling rallied for five runs in the third and eight runs in the fifth to down cellar squad, Gulf Coast Express, 13-6.

Friday's contests saw Riemann's bubble by Seven-Up 4-3 and Coast Electric upset Merchants Bank 8-7.

Wednesday's action saw Merchants Bank dump Industrial Enameling 8-2 and Seven-Up short-circuit Coast Electric 13-8.

Merchant's Randy Scarita's win was protected by fine hitting from Ricki Kidd 3-3, Frank Wheat, Steve Smith, Larry Beuhler, all 1-3 while Tim Craig, losing hurler, binned 2-3 and Andrew Mitchell 1-3 for a losing cause.

Seven-Up took advantage of nine walks and rallied for six runs in the last stanza behind the hitting of Ed Favre and Gary Yarborough. Yarborough was credited with the win and August McKay the loss.

acquired on a recent weekend trip to Gulf Shores.

Uncle George Keith is spending most of his time fishing while vacationing at his Waveland summer home.

Sympathy is extended to Phyllis Miller whose husband Felix passed away suddenly on Friday night and to Jim Mayfield who attended his father's funeral in Alabama on Friday.

Jottings

Big Sam Blanchard is living up to his name in a large way, having just acquired the title contract for all flooring, ceramic and marble in the unpromising story International Trade Mart Building now under construction in the Crescent City.

'Gnu' Mauritz is in line for sex well wishes. Gnu had surgery in Gulfport Memorial last Wednesday.

Etheline (Mrs. Lathon) Gariga and daughter, Donna, left Monday for Houston, Tex., where they will spend a couple of weeks with her brother Nelson and wife Jean Ladner. Etheline will recuperate from her brother Floyd's wedding which took place in De Lisle on Saturday. The occasion being the first time in 16 years the family of four daughters and four sons gathered together at the same time for many a year.

Lois and Walter Yarbrough became parents for the eighth time last week when little Paulette Lynn arrived weighing four pounds, eight ounces. Paulette, who is still in an incubator, (fancy incubator) is the fifth daughter.

Waveland suffered another loss when Pie (Mrs. K. P.) Kammmer sold her Favre Street home and returned to Algiers - this is a not so subtle hint for her to resume writing those wonderfully humorous little notes she used to break down and toss at us in past years.

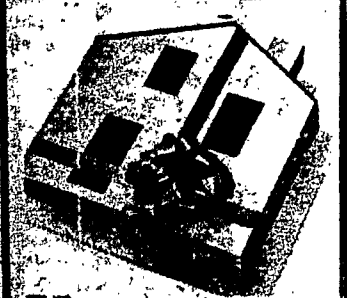

Kitty (Mrs. Olla) Mollere entertained at coffee honoring Mollere Drive neighbor Mrs. O.H. Williams on Monday who, with Mr. Williams, will be returning to Texas.

Gripe corner

This is more of a suggestion than a real complaint. At several different locations on the beach it is necessary for a camp counselor or on occasion, a nun, to stop traffic to allow a long line of campers to cross the road safely. This is fine up to a point, but for a little more protection it would be better if there were two such persons stopping traffic about twenty or thirty feet from the crossing and a bright red flag or banner held in the hand would warn motorists new to the area that it will be necessary to come to a complete stop within the next few feet.

SIGHTS AND SOUNDS ALONG THE WAY - Huge masses of pink crimson and near purple crepe myrtle festooning bushes all over town, lines of youthful swimmers filling almost every pier along the beach and the squeaky chirps of hungry baby birds making such a racket that one's sleep is interrupted almost as soon as the sun shows its first faint glow.
